Here because of Siivagunner. A fun bullet hell game with Touhou and Melee references. Very speedrunable.. Picked this up earlier today and am glad I did - it's a fun and visually beautiful game. It's easy to pick up and the art makes it just incredible. Two thumbs up! well, given that this is a new game it will take some time till you find a match but once you do you are in to have some fun.

I think what this game really needs now is a single player mode to have some practice. ROD: Revolt Of Defense has one of the more interesting thinking-outside-the-box game designs I've come across in a while. What a weird little game as far as design goes, but yeah, it is fun.

Essentially, you manage a city-in-a-dome and fly it across the universe to fight other cities. The city is made of tiles, and the weird thing is that you can 'flip' all the tiles and work with the space the undersides provide, too. You have money and resources. You build turrets and workspace and collect people. You play the whole thing with the mouse.

Pros:

+Definitely one of the freshest, most interesting game designs in a while (I'm not saying it's brilliant per-se, but definitely fresh and weird)

+While it seems confusing at first, you very quickly catch on and find it's all fairly simple to understand and get into

+It's a buck

Cons:

-They could probably elaborate and build more on what is currently in the game, but hey, it's a buck

-Doesn't seem like too many people are playing after they finish it

Totally worthy of an afternoon, and the small asking price.. The level up sounds on the buttons are SO ANNOYING.

After re-binding those keys it's off to the races. This game is a fun challenge with an aesthetic that's an absolute treat (This could've been released for the SNES). I'm still playing through this and have only reached the 3rd boss, so I have not seen all of the content this game has to offer, but so far I'm definitely impressed. If you like minute to minute gameplay where every move matters then I think you'll love this.

Pros:

- +Nice music and aesthetic
- +The gameplay while challenge as \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 it always seems fair (When I died it was on my slow fingers not keeping up)
- +Each boss is very unique in aesthetic and attacks and no run ever feels the same
- +Despite being a boss rush game there's a lot of content here, and I must say unlockables in any games are a weakness of mine.

Cons:

- Maybe needs to gamepad support (Not really, but would be nice)
- The aiming can be a bit weird at times, and aiming backwards on a sudden change of direction while firing doesn't seem possible (This can be remedied by using different weapons\abilities though). Very much like the story and simplicity of this game.. Very nice skin. I'm recommending. Short and sweet. Good pacing. The story's absolutely great. O7. 5 days view this stream and now any souvenir =(
